

IN FORMATION

Increase your team's performance by 71% and do it NOW! InFormation equips your team with the same advantage a flock of geese takes for granted. By following the tested guidelines outlined in this authentic resource book, your organization will fly farther, faster, and with no additional effort, keeping you out in front.

Look what these leaders are saying about In Formation:

"...Most companies share a commitment to quality. In Formation shows you how to achieve quality through leadership. By following the techniques outlined in this book, you will peak your teams level of performance. Larry W. Dennis Sr. takes a very practical approach using real-life examples. You will find the guidelines easy to follow and implement."

David Snodgras, President
Dennis' 7 Dees Landscaping

"...The principles Larry W. Dennis Sr. teaches in In Formation have worked for us. For years our central distribution center delivered material once a week to our 60-branch network. Now, our warehouse team leaders have improved our materials management process to deliver every day to our branches with no increase in costs. If you want to see dramatic breakthrough in improvement, read and study In Formation."

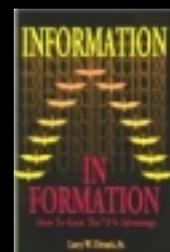

Gary Ewer, Director of Education
Platt Electrical Supply

"...In just the last 18 month, after a 10-week program centered around the In Formation principles, we increased our production nearly 100% with half the labor costs. We have reduced our entire company's labor costs by 12% while sustaining similar increases in sales. We now measure, track and analyze our performance to make our jobs easier and more profitable. In Formation is an excellent tool for reaching success in today's fast-changing, increasingly competitive business environment."

Stan Tonneson, General Manager
Georgies Ceramic and Clay Co.

"...Over the past two years our business has been energized by learning and applying the principles and strategies presented in In Formation. As a job-shop surface finisher, we are facing demands for shorter cycle times and higher levels of quality. Centering around 'teams,' employees are now setting goals, measuring against them, celebrating their achievements and solving problems. As Larry's principles are applied in your business, the results are immediate and remarkably self-sustaining."

Gary Rehnberg, Vice President/Controller
East Side Plating, Inc.

$19.95